

The Graduate Academy for Law and Economics offers an excellent opportunity for anyone seeking to expand their knowledge in the field. The 2024 edition was particularly insightful, featuring two independent seminar blocks delivered by Prof. Adi Leibovitch and Prof. Avishalom Tor. These sessions allowed participants to delve into questions of empirical law and economics as well as behavioral regulation. The experience was further enriched by four special lectures and a guest lecture from experts in the field.

The Academy caters to both novices and those with a substantial background in law and economics, as the lecturers made sure to cover the recent developments in the discipline. Additionally, it provides a fantastic opportunity to connect with young academics, facilitated by a rich social program and a warm, welcoming environment.

The organisation of the Academy was impeccably smooth, thanks to the dedicated team behind it. Overall, the week could not have been better!

*Lana Gotvan
PhD Candidate, University of Ljubljana*